Zev Wins Classic Event At Belmont for $100,000 Purse

Huge Crowd Witnesses First International Racing Event in History—Winner May Meet Admiral Grayson's "My Own."

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Zev America's great three-year-old defeated Papyrus the English three year old champion, by six lengths, in the mile and a half in the international match today. Time 2:35 1-5.

By the time the second race was over and an hour before the big event it was estimated that six thousand spectators were in the grandstand and enclosure and in the park, thus breaking all records for attendance in eastern track annals. Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, winner of My Own, which was rushed from Laurel, Maryland, to Belmont yesterday to fill Zev's place if necessary, was the center of a group of early arrivals. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the former president, also was a spectator and in anticipation of seeing Zev carry America's colors, not being aware of Zev's fitness until he arrived here from Washington. Papyrus, England's champion, reached the paddock at 2:25 p. m. and walked around the small enclosure while thousands pressed forward in effort to see the famous D. vinner. Steve Donoghue, who was the center of another throng, went to the scales. Zev, the American champion, arrived a few minutes later with his rider, who shook hands with Donoghue as they met at the gate. There was a great cheer from the crowd as Zev and Papyrus paraded through a narrow lane to the track and cantered toward the judges' stand. Zev had on blinkers and a lead about, seeming in fine fettle. Papyrus with no head gear, walked serenely and apparently unperturbed by the shouting.

R. T. Wilson, Jr., saw his colors flash to victory in the second race at a mile for three years and upwards, which Forest Lore, a Chestnut colt, won by a brilliant finish from a field of six starters. This was the Hands Across the Sea purse for the National. The last preliminary to the international match, the $2,000 Old Glory handicap, went to Aisack, a well-played favorite. The great crowd stood with bowed heads while the band played the National Anthem of England and America. Then there was a rush for the rails as the bell sounded for the saddling of the rival thoroughbreds. Donoghue took his place astride Papyrus wearing the purple and pink colors of Ben Irish, while Aisack took the job up on Zev in the Bancoas colors of white and green.

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The dawned bright and clear at Belmont park where Zev and Papyrus will run at four p. m. The track was low as the result of several days rain which did not subside until late last night. The forecast was cooler and cloudy.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The hemispheres were awaiting today the shout from one hundred thousand throats that would be echoed around the world—"they're off." There have been "battles of the century." The "battle of the continents" has passed into the printed word. From their toes the stars have shaken the diamond dust and the supremacy of baseball again has been decided. The shouting died and the cheering ceased. (Continued on Page Six.)

In His Soft Drink Assortment Was Hard Drinks Camouflaged "Lemon Soda"

A soft drink stand, operated by the late Coleman, colored, in the "Camp Grove" section, has been doing such a thriving business that police officers became suspicious and this morning raided the place. The find there resulted in Coleman's arrest for storing carbonated drinks. The raid was conducted about ten o'clock by Sergeant J. H. Martin and Police Constables E. B. Rodes, H. R. Dameron and W. B. Foster. Coleman deals in drinks of all sorts, but strange to say he had a greater demand for a certain drink without color, labeled "Lemon Soda." With bottles of Coca-Cola and other drinks, were a half dozen bottles of the so-called "Lemon Soda," sitting on the ice. Ordinarily not the least bit of suspicion would result from the appearance of Coleman's soft drink stand, but Sergeant Martin was suspicious and he decided on a raid. After a searching elsewhere, the box was opened and the officers examined the contents. There was Coca-Cola, Grape Juice, Iron Free Orange, and last but not least, the lemon soda bottles. When the top bearing the name and by field as clear as crystal. The officers looked up some of the bottles and opened them. The odor of whisky reached their noses. Coleman's scheme had been detected and the raid was taken in charge of and the negro placed under arrest.

Responsibility of State Governors Is Stressed In Speech

Hospital Board Is Studying Best Use Of Hughes Bequest

With preliminary steps being taken looking to the winding up of the large estate of John E. Hughes speculation is again being indulged in as to what use the Danville General Hospital will take towards the investment of the quarter of a million dollars which Mr. Hughes left the institution where much of his last long illness was spent. While the hospital board has reached no decision as to the way in which the money will be spent it is known that thought is being given both to the building of a new hospital in another part of town and to improvement of the present hospital and utilization of the money in endowing a free ward or wards and the institution of useful adjuncts to the hospital through which the community might profit most. There is, as usually, a question of opinion among the members as to how the money were best spent.

No Surrender of State Authority Contemplated In 18th Amendment, President Says In Addressing Governors—People Themselves Have Duty He Reminds.

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—President Coolidge called on the governors of the several states today to assume their full share of responsibility for enforcement of the prohibition law. Meeting with more than thirty state executives who had responded to his invitation to attend a White House conference on law enforcement, Mr. Coolidge flatly declared that "no provision of the eighteenth amendment or the national prohibition act contemplates any surrender of state responsibility."

The provisions of the eighteenth amendment and its supplementary statutes the President said, are "perfectly plain" in the directions they give both to the President and the governors of states. He added that the country "ought to comprehend that when laws have been made, there is and can be no question about the duty of executives to enforce them with such instruments and by such means as the law provides for securing enforcement."

The President suggested no new means of co-operation between the federal government and the states and made no comment on the declaration of the governors yesterday in their conference at West Baden, Indiana, on the suggestions as to enforcement methods recently put forward by individual governors. He did say, however, that the problems of law enforcement could not be answered by "political intrigue" or determined "by executive fiat in all private spheres."

"It is privilege to welcome you here as one, who, by experience can look at your problems with that sympathy which comes from common fellow-feeling. The government of a sovereign state of our nation is an exalted position. It outranks, within its own jurisdiction, with a single exception, every other office in America. It is the greatest honor that a state can bestow. The chief executive of the states and the nation for a conference at Washington. You have been invited here that I might lay before you some of the problems for better enforcement of law. A statement of the importance of the government which does not enforce its laws is unworthy of the name of a government and cannot expect to hold either the support of its own citizens or the respect of the informed opinion of the world."

That ours is a dual system of administration does not need to be explained in this presence. Joint powers and joint responsibilities exist, which must be exercised and discharged by joint action. "While certain classes of aliens, easily distinguishable, have been excluded from this country for a considerable length of time, a general exclusion of the entire immigration, as has been suggested, is not only inadvisable, but is a direct violation of the law. The new law admits approximately 350,000 aliens or about one-third of the number coming in annually under the old law before the new law was enacted. The number of aliens entering is now much larger and attempts to evade the law have greatly increased. It is estimated by the Department of Labor that there is a surplus over the border of about 100,000 aliens, which is a considerable menace to the success of our immigration policy. Such an influx of persons, entering the country in violation of the law, cannot fail to attract the attention of all patriotic Americans. We are our better and on our side."

STRANGE FEAT CAUSES PROBE

(By Chicago Tribune Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Garbed only in a filmy night shirt, in which he slid down a heavy telephone cable from the seventh floor window of the Fleischmann Turkish Baths at 42nd street and Broadway early this morning, to the base of the elevated platform at that corner, from which he fell, James P. Sullivan, a waiter, 37, of Brooklyn, is being detained for observation at Bellevue Hospital while receiving treatment for a fracture of the right hip and nose.

According to the police Sullivan appeared entirely normal at the bath house at midnight, visited steam and hot rooms, took a rubdown and plunge and, provided with a night shirt, was assigned to a room. Nothing more was heard of him until 4 o'clock when a white-robed figure stepped from a seventh floor window, crasped the heavy cable and slid rapidly downward, struck the elevated station to which the cable was attached, and fell 25 feet to the ground.

At Bellevue it is said Sullivan has offered no explanation of his strange feat.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound, mixed with olive oil, to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

Public Opinion Will Bring Dry Law Enforcement, Pinchot Says

GOVERNOR PINCHOT

By ERNEST L. LYNN
WEST BADEN, Ind., Oct. 20.—"That the government, with the people a few overwhelmingly behind it, is powerless before a few lawbreakers is unthinkable," said Governor Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, in Washington recently, placing prohibition enforcement directly at the door of the White House.

But are the people "overwhelmingly behind" prohibition? Or is the fact that they are not responsible for the law's failure—admitted by Governor Pinchot—thus far?

Banks on Opinion

I put these questions up to Mr. Pinchot, here for the governors' annual meeting. In this case preliminary to their conference with President Coolidge relative to the eighteenth amendment and other interstate problems.

Yes, he said, he believes public opinion is more and more outraged and more and more determined that the law shall be enforced. He does not believe public opinion will continue to countenance resistance of the law. He does believe it will not always be difficult to enforce the law.

Booze vs. Theft

"Why," I asked, "is violation of the liquor law, why is bootlegging in short, harder to suppress, for instance, than theft or counterfeiting?"

That was simple.

"Because," said the governor, "violation of the liquor law has been allowed to get a greater start."

And why do some people consider themselves justified in breaking the law and buying contraband liquor?"

That wasn't so simple, even for Pinchot—and he confesses he has given some hard study to the whole prohibition problem.

Another Good Sale

Another record sale for the season on the Danville tobacco market was made yesterday when James Younger of Dry Fork sold at auction 790 pounds for $407.50 or at an average price of $51.51. This is believed to be the highest price paid for a single load of tobacco here this season and $30. per hundred the amount received for 1923.

(By The Associated Press.)
QUITMAN, Ga., Oct. 19.—Brooks county officers who are investigating the killing of Sherrod McGill and his son, Talley McGill, a sensation of three South Georgia counties, today are following the theory that there is a plot to kill witnesses who may be called upon to testify in connection with the murder of Turner Folsom.

Folsom was shot and instantly killed.

Expect Great Things!

The moment you see this New V-63 Cadillac you instinctively expect surpassing performance.

And when you drive and ride in the car, your first impression becomes positive conviction.

You discover that Cadillac riding ease has taken on a new meaning; that driving is a subconscious function, so effortless that you are left free to relax and enjoy; that safety is vitally advanced by Cadillac Four Wheel Brakes.

But even these remarkable refinements are overshadowed by the performance of the new harmonized and balanced V-Type eight-cylinder engine.

You are immediately conscious of great power and speed, and because of new principles of design the car's flight is virtually the only hint of the motor's presence.

All is quietness and smooth travel; there is nothing to detract from enjoyment of a motor-ing experience which you know is without precedent or parallel.

To see the New Cadillac is to expect great things; to drive and ride in it is to have those expectations splendidly realized.

TENANT FARMER WORKS TRICKERY ONCE TOO OFTEN

L. F. Pennell, a tobacco tenant farmer, living near Keyville, it is alleged has pulled off a number of shrewd tricks, but according to information received at a police headquarters last night he went once too often to market. Pennell was lodged in the city jail last night after he had been brought back from his home in Charlotte county by Officer Bill Edwards. He is charged with a felony.

It is said that Pennell came to this city on October 13 with a load of tobacco and sold the same on the auction market, receiving therefore about $200. On the night of the 13th he was arrested by Officer Edwards and placed in the city jail on the charge of being drunk. He spent the night in jail and the next morning paid his fine of $16.00 out of a sum of $106 which was taken from him on the night of the arrest.

Following his release from jail Pennell is said to have gone to the warehouse where he sold his tobacco, told a story of having been robbed by a negro, and borrowed $5 to pay his railroad fare back to his home. When he came to Danville, M. Woosley, whose farm he works, a story of having been robbed and having to borrow money to come home on.

However, Woosley has heard of Pennell having worked the robbery stunt before, so he decided to investigate. He came to Danville, interviewed the manager of the warehouse and found that Pennell had actually borrowed the $5 and told of having been robbed. So far Pennell's story was corroborated. But Woosley pursued the matter further. He came to police headquarters and interviewed Sergeant Edwards, who remembered the arrest made by Officer Edwards. Records showed that Pennell had $106 on him when arrested and had paid his fine out of this amount.

Woosley secured a warrant here for Pennell's arrest and a telegram was sent to Keyville to have the man held until officers from Danville could be sent to take him in custody and bring him back to this city.

AUTHORITIES RENEW EFFORTS TO BRING XIPPAS BACK

(By The Associated Press.)

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 19.—Virginia authorities have renewed their efforts to bring Societas A. Xippas back from Pittsburgh to face trial here on charges of violating the Virginia election laws in the Democratic primary of August 7.

Thomas H. Wilcox, Jr., commonwealth's attorney, has left for Pittsburgh to ascertain just what it is delaying a decision by Judge Kline there on the question of whether Xippas shall be turned over to the Norfolk authorities on the requisition approved by Governor Pinchot, or whether he shall remain in Pennsylvania under a writ of habeas corpus.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

An approaching event of social interest is the marriage of Miss Marie Penn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pemberton Penn, of this city, to J. D. Watt, of Reidsville, N. C., which is to take place early in November. The wedding is the social life of Virginia and North Carolina, and the popularity of the young couple. A number of parties have already been given in honor of the bride-elect, by her friends and relatives. Others are in prospect.

Miss Margaret Penn, Sara Watt, Hele Penn and Evelyn Kemp, of Reidsville, N. C.; Misses Kate Rucker Penn and Casandra Penn of Madison, N. C. and Miss Lucille Glenn, of Housatonic-Salem, N. C., will be the bridesmaids at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pemberton Penn prior to the wedding.

Luncheon At Country Club
An affair of distinctive elegance was the luncheon given yesterday at the country club by Mrs. Barnes R. Penn in honor of her niece, Miss Marie Alice Penn, at which sixteen young society girls of Danville and Reidsville were guests. For this occasion the club dining room was artistically decorated by Mrs. Watt with autumn leaves to correspond with the unique table decoration—an "English Castle" centerpiece with center-mound of roses, Bouvardia, sweet peas and maiden-hair fern. The most surrounding the castle was covered with natural birch bark with a low outer-rim of assorted flowers, autumn leaves and fern. Candles in appropriate colors completed this beautiful creation. The place-cards were small colonial style—elegant and of French candies, and the same design and colors were carried out in heart-shaped cakes and other sweets.

The place-card for the bride-elect was a lovely cupid. The guests were: Miss Marie Alice Penn, guest of honor; Misses Sara Watt, Helen Penn, Evelyn H. Kemp, and Margaret Richardson, of Reidsville; and Misses Will Penn, Elizabeth Penn, Mary Temple, Margaret Jordan, Annie James, Bessie Van Wageningen, Marian Boatwright, Virginia Overby, and Mrs. Eugene Noell, all of Danville.

Miss Penn Guest of Honor.
Miss Jeff Penn will entertain in honor of Miss Marie Alice Penn this evening at her apartment on Broad street.

The following guests will be present and play bridge: Misses Marie Penn, Elizabeth Penn, Elizabeth Gwynne, Jenny Lind Bass, Evelyn Kemp, Sara Watt, Margaret Richardson and Helen Penn, Mesdames Clarence Herndon, Charles Anderson, Arch Gravelly, Eugene Noell. The hostess will present the bride-elect with a lovely poppy-bowl and the winner of the highest score will be awarded dainty hand-made handkerchiefs.

An ice-cream will be served after the game.

Shakespeare Study Club.
Mrs. H. C. Leigh was the hostess of the Shakespeare Study Club on Thursday afternoon. Miss Della Slifton, one of the Danville girls who attended the Bryn Mawr Summer School for industrial girls during the past season gave an interesting report of the school—its origin, development, purpose and advantages.

Miss Charles Anthony read a splendid paper on "poetry and philosophy." The subject was introduced by the question, are poets philosophers? It was proven conclusively that poets write of life—the eternal race emotions of creation and development being expressed by the great poets of every age in the language of their own age. The speaker also presented quotations from some of the most noted poets together with original arguments proving that "poets and true philosophers both live and teach the beauty that is within them," as exemplified by the greatest of all poets who offered to his followers the harmonies of life through the well-ordered life, heart, soul, body, mind—all these he taught his followers to care for. He offered men their dream come true—the race made ideal.

The speaker appealed to the women of Danville who attained their ideal to help others by showing the boys and girls of Danville how to attain to theirs.

Classes in Home Economics
The evening class in Home Economics had its opening meeting on Thursday evening at the Y. W. C. A. A large and an enthusiastic class gathered to learn some of the science of cookery, under the skilled instruction of Mrs. Charlotte R. Jacobs. A lesson in correct table service opened the interesting evening course, with a simple but well appointed table to give a touch of realism. Since the very staff of life is the bread we eat, Mrs. Jacobs opened the course in cookery with a demonstration of quick bread making, and a talk on food values. The second lesson of the housewives afternoon class, which meets on Tuesday and Friday afternoons was held Friday afternoon. A decidedly increased enrollment. Mrs. Jacobs requests that all members of this class be in the room and ready to begin the lesson promptly at three o'clock, and that everyone will come provided with note book and pencil.

The Leper Mission will meet at the residence of Mr. E. B. Meade, South Main street, Thursday afternoon, 4 p. m.

Off For Western Trip
Mr. J. J. Speer leaves today for Colorado Springs to visit her brother, F. L. Woodward, at his ranch-home, near Colorado Springs, Colo.

Mrs. Speer will go the Northern route by way of Chicago, Denver and Royal Gorge.

After spending several weeks in the West, she will return to Danville, by the Southern route.

Library Notes
Library readers, and book-lovers generally, are much interested in the voting contest for the "Best Ten Books of the Century" which is being conducted by the Literary Digest International Book Review. The October number of the magazine, which is just out shows the list considerably longer than last month.

A very considerable majority places Mr. Wells' "Outline of History" at the head of the list. With Arnold Bennett's "Old Wives Tale" coming second.

"Jean Christophe" by Romaine Rolland has third place, while Mr. Hutchinson's "If Winter Comes" is fourth in favor. What makes the contest so very interesting is that every reader, whether they have any literary pretensions or not is invited to send in the list of best books (to them) published in this or any other country since 1900. From the list in the judges have arranged a composite list which will be added to until November the fifteenth, when the final vote will be taken.

Letter's of Roosevelt, (now published in $1.00 edition), "Outline of Science" by J. Arthur Thomson, and books of like character are popular as are also books of poems and fiction and practical psychology. A Southern woman has given "Queed" as favorite because it is a really Southern book about real Southern people.

But every one has the privilege of choosing what seems best to them.

Personals.
—Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Schoolfield have their nieces, Misses Bland Koger and Elsie Van Wageningen, of Chatham Episcopal Institute, as guests this week-end.

—Mr. and Mrs. James T. Catlin, Jr., have gone to Petersburg, where they will stop for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Walker, before going on to Richmond to spend the week-end with their father, Mr. J. T. Catlin, Sr., who is attending conference this week. Mr. and Mrs. Catlin expect to visit Washington city before returning home.

—E. C. Barker, of Richmond, Va., is spending the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Barker, Church street.

—Henry B. Watkins has returned from a visit to the North Carolina state fair at Raleigh, N. C.

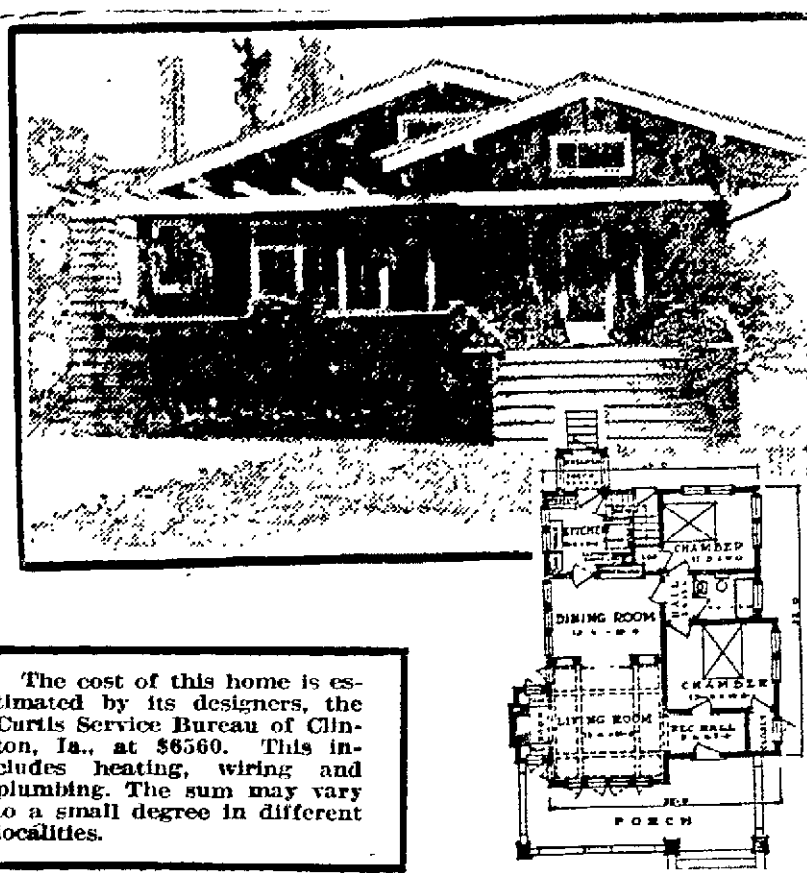

—Harvey Philpott, a messenger boy sometime ago suffered a fracture of the skull in a bicycle accident on Main street, has sufficiently recovered to be removed to his home today.

—Mrs. Frank Talbot is spending the week-end in Lynchburg.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Keen, Randolph Perkins and Dan Overby left early this morning for Charlottesville to attend the V. M. I. University of Virginia football game today.

—Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Kaufman have returned to the city after a few days' visit to Mr. Kaufman's parents at Statesville, N. C.

COZY BUNGALOW FOR $6560

The cost of this home is estimated by its designers, the Curtis Service Bureau of Clinton, Ia., at $6560. This includes heating, wiring and plumbing. The sum may vary to a small degree in different localities.

This inviting little home offers pleasing variations in design from the usual bungalow. The plain gabled roof is a welcome relief from the too-pomperous dormer, and the pergola-like terrace has a lightness that is in keeping with the house.

The house occupies a ground space about 28 by 36 feet, exclusive of the porch, and so is adaptable for almost every city lot. Wide sliding is used, making it appear larger. White paint would further have increased the impression of size. Composition roofing and brick for the chimneys are the other materials used. Small panes in the windows are an added point of interest.

Well Arranged
The rooms are so arranged that living room, dining room and kitchen may share the pleasant exposure; the bedroom, reception hall and bath sharing the other side of the house. From the front entrance direct to the front bedroom.

The living room is almost square, with beamed ceiling, and a fireplace in the front on one side.

From the dining room there is access to the tiny hall connecting the bedrooms and bath. Both sleeping rooms are light and airy, and have a built-in dresser, worktable, sink, clothes chute, and alcove for the range. With a glazed rear door and a pair of windows above the work-table it has light and air from two directions. Notice the convenient grade entry and basement stairs.

Modern housewives, who demand efficient kitchens, cannot help but like this one. It is quite small, and has a built-in dresser, worktable, sink, clothes chute, and alcove for the range. With a glazed rear door and a pair of windows above the work-table it has light and air from two directions. Notice the convenient grade entry and basement stairs.

The Tangle

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters.

I sometimes wonder, little Marquise, what you think of all these modern complexities. In that last and only letter which you left to the woman who should find the hidden drawer, you only told me one secret and that was that "the way little Marquise was beloved by a king."

I wish you had left some more of those letters which you spoke about. I would have known then if you would understand, for some way I am sure your spirit hovers about this desk and you take interest in me and mine.

In fact the other day when I put a little bundle of letters within this secret receptacle, I seemed to feel that you had placed upon me the seal of your approval because I had given to Ruth some of that money I felt was mine—at least it wasn't Jack's. After I had given Jack the six thousand dollars, I divided the other three in half and persuaded Ruth to use the fifteen hundred dollars to set herself up in a modest lingerie establishment in which I am sure she is going to do very well.

Of course I told her that I only loaned this money to her and she has insisted that she shall give me one-tenth of all her profits until she has returned it and 10 per cent interest. Of course you, little Marquise, know that whether she pays me back or not I shall be very happy to have helped her. I cannot ever near telling her about my pearls and how I had gotten the money the other day but decided not to do so until I had heard from Alice, who—by the way—is strangely silent.

I was more than inclined to do this because, dear little Marquise, I cannot tell even you just what happened when I returned and gave that money to Jack. I sometimes wonder if when anyone does something that he considers a great deed, the reaction is not always disappointing.

I hardly know Jack since he has had this trouble. He is brusque and irritable and nervous and once or twice he has almost looked with anxiety upon the clock. Oh, I wish I could ask somebody if I have really done right in taking this blessed baby into my home and heart.

Two or three times I have seen Jack leaping upon the little face the keenest scrutiny and always when he finished he turned away with a sigh. I'm afraid Jack is sorry that he has given this baby his name. I'm afraid that down deep in his heart he has a possible longing for the child of his own to bear that honored name.

Oh, little Marquise, perhaps none better than you know how often we do things under the stress of strong emotion that our later reasonings tell us are sometimes foolish. But foolish or not of one thing I am determined, John Alden Prescott, Jr., shall not suffer.

When they say a QUART—They mean it

But—She Jest With The Subject

(By The Associated Press)
ORTLAND, Oct. 20.—Mary Garden will be married in 1924—perhaps, according to her admission to Portland newspapers at a frolic held in the prima donna's honor during her visit here this week.

"For twelve years newspaper men have been asking me when I am going to be married," Miss Garden said. "Next year is the thirtieth, my lucky year, astrologists, fortune tellers, palm readers, all tell me that I am to get married in 1924. So you see something ought to happen. I never miss an opportunity to consult fortune tellers and palm readers. I love to hear them, although I always go away and say I don't believe a word they say."

Anyhow the fortune tellers all agree in saying that I am to be married next year, so now every man I meet I look him over and wonder if perhaps he is not the man. However, I haven't seen him yet."

"The only thing I dislike about getting married," continued the singer, "is that I shall have to walk down the aisle of the church. I hate walking. I hate it so much that I shall probably be married sitting in an automobile."

Mary said that she never walked one step when she could ride. "I love dancing but that is as far removed from walking as it is from swimming. I hate golf primarily because it is another form of walking. It also is a form of approaching senile debility and paralysis of the emotions. You show me a woman who goes in for golf and I'll show you that she is getting so she wheezes when she dances or lops over 'he top

"Mile upon mile they walk every day, fancying they are keeping off fat or making themselves alert and youthful. If they only realized it, they are hardening the muscles of their legs while the rest of their body remain fat and soft."

"If they'd play tennis or swim—ah, those are the exercises that make you perfectly fit and trim off the excess pounds. At Monte Carlo, my home, I swim a mile every morning to a great rock that sets out in the sea from the beach. My home, a great villa, is on the beach. When I get to the rock I rest and then I swim back to the beach. After that I had breakfast, then I work."

The Whole Family Working and You Are Paying Rent

That isn't thrift! It isn't even good sense. "GET TOGETHER" and figure out what you are losing in dollars and cents, to say nothing of the comfort and pleasure in owning your own home. HOLD A "FAMILY COUNCIL."

You will find the young folks quite enthusiastic about the proposition and they will all be better men and women for the co-operative effort to buy the home.

They won't mind missing a few "movies" if it is to secure something more real and lasting. This is a suggestion worth while. It means more than the mere buying of a piece of property. IT MEANS THE WHOLE FAMILY WORKING TO ONE END. TRY IT! Begin by attending our Auction Friday, Oct. 26th at 2 p. m.
